Duane Starks

Founder

Duane L. Starks, a native Floridian, started his football career with a local Miami optimist football team at the early age of 8.

Throughout his formative years he continued to excel at the game of football. By the time he entered high school at Miami Beach Senior High, he held the quarterback position. To become a professional and recognizing the importance of education, Duane knew that college would be the next level. Little did he know the challenge he would be facing consisted of financial and educational difficulties. As a result, Duane was forced to attend an out-of-state junior college (Holmes Community College of Mississippi), later to return to Miami, only to find that some of the courses taken were not accredited for the university of his choice (University of Miami).

Duane's only recourse was now to attend the local Miami-Dade Community College, where he successfully earned the proper credits to attend the University of Miami; ultimately becoming an outstanding defensive football player which led to his successful 10 year professional career in the NFL and proudly Superbowl XXXV Cornerback for the Champion Baltimore Ravens.

Later Duane signed with the Arizona Cardinals which in 2005, landed him a starting position with the New England Patriots, Super Bowl XXXIX Champions. Continuing in his career, March 2006, Duane signed with the Oakland Raiders landing him a starting position as cornerback there as well.

Personal Testimony

After experiencing his young daughter being airlifted to Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP), with the infant onset of hyperinsulinism Duane Starks found yet another passion in the support of CHOP who treated and nurtured his infant daughter to health.

Since its start in 1885, as the nation's first hospital devoted exclusively to caring for children, CHOP has been the birthplace for many dramatic first in pediatric medicine. The hospital has fostered medical discoveries and innovations that have improved pediatric health care and saved countless children's lives. Today CHOP is one of the leading pediatric hospitals and research facilities in the world. A portion of the funds raised during the MIH Weekend will be donated to continue research of Hyperglycemia.
